BACKGROUND As part of the Federal Strategic Sourcing Initiative (FSSI), a Workstations Commodity Team was established in 2013 at the direction of the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) to develop a framework and strategy for effectively managing multiple interagency acquisition vehicles to reduce costs and increase value through the application of strategic sourcing principles. The Team, led by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) with participation by over twenty Federal Agencies, identified desktop and laptop configurations that meet the requirements of the Federal Government for approximately 80% of systems purchased, and also incorporated best practices in spend management (policies, terms and conditions, etc.) to support strategic sourcing.

DESKTOP AND LAPTOP OFFERINGS Three desktop configurations (a standard and two upgrades), and two laptops (a standard and one upgrade) are offered in the initial deployment. The offerings will be evaluated and refreshed as needed based on industry updates and customer feedback. Customers may also choose an optional software bundle of productivity software and antivirus software. Optional hardware includes a monitor, a docking station (laptops only). Optional extended warranties are also offered.
